

SOCIO-ECONOMIC AND REAL ESTATE RESEARCH INTERNSHIP

Development Strategies is a strategic planning firm that provides consulting to cities, developers, lenders, and companies in the areas of real estate, economic, and community development. Located in St. Louis, Missouri, we have a diverse portfolio of successful projects throughout the United States.

Development Strategies offers a paid research internship for a recent graduate or graduate student to assist our team of experts with demographic, economic, finance, and real estate data and related information.

The intern's responsibilities include gathering economic and real estate data, telephone research and interviews, and downloading, entering, organizing, and formatting statistics and related information into tables, graphs, and summary points. Microsoft Office products are used.

Scheduling is flexible, but we expect interns to be in the office at least four to eight hours for three or more days a week. Part-time during spring and fall semesters and full-time during summer is ideal.

Please submit letter of interest and resume to:
